I. Translate the following into Chinese: 30%

1. Walking the streets of Rome gives visitors a chance to hear the good-natured shouts and bellows of the locals as they get on with their work or, more typically, relax with some good food and wine. Walking has another advantage; it allows the visitor to avoid the Roman road system and its drivers--long considered to be the most unruly and manic in the Western world. 15%
2. Ethnocentrism is the view that one's own culture is better than all others. There is no one in our society who is not ethnocentric to some degree, no matter how liberal and open-minded he or she might claim to be. This is not something we should be ashamed of. However, it is something we should constantly be aware of, so that when we are tempted to make value judgments about another way of life, we can look at the situation objectively and take our bias into account. 15%

III. What follows is a poem by A. E. Housman, "Oh, When I Was in Love with You." Please read the poem and write what you think about it (with a minimum of 150 words). 40%

Oh, when I was in love with you,
Then I was clean and brave,
And miles around the wonder grew
How well I did behave.

And now the fancy passes by,
And nothing will remain,
And miles around they'll say that I
Am quite myself again.
