

系所組別： 外國語文學系學士班

考試科目： 英文作文

考試日期：0710，節次：4

※ 考生請注意：本試題 可 不可 使用計算機

Part I. Sentence-Correction: 40% (每題4分)

- A. Carefully read the following ten sentences, which are either grammatically correct or incorrect.
- B. If the sentence is grammatically correct, put down the question number and write a C on the answer sheet.
- C. If the sentence is grammatically incorrect, put down the question number, copy the error, and then provide your correction.
1. Ask whomever is in the information booth whether men's shoes are on this floor.
 2. Are either of these steaks cooked the way you want?
 3. The editor of the newspaper together with the bureau chief were at the senator's press conference.
 4. Neither her son nor her daughters has a disposition like Rita.
 5. Emma, if you will season your deviled eggs with this mustard, I guarantee that they will taste delicious.
 6. She is as tall if not taller than her sister.
 7. No one's enthusiasm can match Mandy.
 8. We always have and always will support your efforts to invent a perpetual-motion machine.
 9. Pete wanted to see one of the Star Trek movies again, but the rest of us in favor of finding something new.
 10. The reason that I am happy is because I have won a scholarship to Georgetown University.

Part II. Write an essay in about 300 words about a particular addiction. You might write about someone you know who is addicted to smoking, drinking, shopping, overeating, watching TV, or online gambling. In your essay, discuss several possible reasons for this addition and several effects on the person's life. 60%